

Autumn

Ah! See, the trees are flaming
Wearing their bright orange finery.
The squirrels gather their winter fare.
Leaves rain down upon us;
We gather them in fine piles,
Suitable for jumping into, or throwing
In the air. So perfect to be buried under
The musky, crisp brown scent,
Recollecting Halloween and harvest.
Such a wonderful season! Rich in color,
Rich with smell, rich with bounty,
Nature's best: pumpkin pies and
Cornstalks; clouds graying the days;
The trees blaze all the brighter.

©2000 Shannon Rae Noble