

Sunrise

She peeks one eye above the horizon checking the lay of the land before raising her second eyelid open.
Lifting her skirts with glowing hand,

she pulls her brilliance into the sky,
spreading her joy in pastel hues.
Her flaming girth is what we spy through Heaven's pale and misty blues.

©2000 Shannon Rae Noble